If you have made the shortlist, Cork Learning City staff will then make contact to find out if you are attending the awards ceremony. If you are unable to make the event, we will ask you to provide us with contact details of someone who could accept your award on your behalf if you win.

How are judges selected?

Judges are selected from a pool of experienced Cork Learning City committee members, partners and stakeholders. Each one is asked to declare any interests they have such as former colleagues or employers so that the judging process is carried out fairly.

Who are the Judges?

We have recruited our judges primarily from the Cork Learning City stakeholder group. Our judges bring a broad mix of talents and expertise ensuring our evaluations will reflect many points of view. Every judge is vetted for relevant expertise and conflict of interest with the categories that they are assigned to.

Each of the judges ranks the entries in order of preference. The winner will be the entry with most 1st places. If these are tied then 2nd places, 3rd places etc. will be considered. If there is a tie then the Head of Judges will have a casting vote.

If there is only 1 entry for a category, then judges will be asked to recommend whether any award should be made or not.

Nominees and winners will also receive window stickers for display in their premises. We also provide trophies that help remind your own support people about what a great job they're doing. We will issue press releases, which may produce stories about individual winners and we will have editorial coverage of the awards via our media partners the Evening Echo and Echolive.ie .
